

ROWAN TREE TRUST

...tapping a limitless resource...

The Rowan Tree Trust trains professionals and volunteers in the art therapies; play, drama, music, painting, story-telling; all those activities which are associated with human creative expression.

The Trust supports its volunteers and professionals worldwide to assist children at risk, adults at the margin, elderly people in institutions. For example, Project Wolf is a Trust programme to support children and teenagers who are bullied and stigmatised in Romania and the UK.

The Trust's goal is to lighten the burdens of life by tapping a limitless resource ... human creative energy.

2007

The Rowan Tree Trust supported special projects in Romania (attachment with mothers and newborns) and Kazakhstan, (Storytelling with Orphans) and international training programmes in creative arts therapies, (Romania, Malaysia, Kazakhstan and the UK).

2008

The Rowan Tree Trust is supporting and sponsoring 'Creative Care' training and 'New Life', a new and play and drama programme for street children and teenagers in Romania.

It also supports a new initiative in Malaysia for NASTOM (National Autistic Society of Malaysia) for teacher training and special projects.

The Rowan Tree Trust continues to be sponsored by The Newby Educational Trust through the support of The Felicity Meshoulam Fund.

Wells Cathedral School is our main fund raiser for 2008 activities supporting 'Rowan's Children' in Romania.

Our appreciation and thanks to all our generous sponsors and donors.
